

BETWEEN THE DEVIL AND THE DEEP BLUE SKY

By Gina Wilkinson

'Just a year ago I was a housewife in Baghdad, desperate to fill empty hours in an echoing home. Now it's normal to worry about stray bullets and whether I should have worn my flak jacket.'

In a world controlled by a merciless dictator, where the chaos of war is a daily reality, Australian journalist Gina Wilkinson's life is a surreal mix of domesticity, danger and deadlines.

Between the Devil and the Deep Blue Sky is a revealing account of the perils and pitfalls of life during Saddam Hussein's final year in power, the US-led occupation and the demands of juggling domesticity, danger and deadlines in a war zone. It is sometimes frightening - with constant surveillance from the dreaded mukhabarat secret police; sometimes devastating - the loss of a close friend in the bombing of the UN's Baghdad headquarters; and at times darkly humorous.

During this incredible journey Gina finds nothing is what it seems and there's no black and white when you're stuck between the devil and the deep blue sky of Iraq.
